MARY LURIE

Mary was born in Lithuania in 1882 and was the second child born to Marcus Lurie and Rosa Sachs. She moved to Boston with her family when she was about ten years old. She graduated from the Wells Grammar School in Boston in 1897 and from the Girls' High School, City of Boston in 1900 aged about 18. She then went to New York to train as a nurse at the Lebanon Hospital receiving her Registered Nurse Certificate in 1906 from the State of New York.

As a new graduate, Mary moved back to Boston and commenced employment at the Mount Sinai Hospital. It was recognised that many poor people, among them immigrant Jews, were contracting tuberculosis. It was suggested that a nurse be employed to visit them at home to investigate living conditions and ensure that the prescribed treatment was being followed. Mary was the first nurse to be employed in this programme. She organised women to work in the crowded tenement districts and to conduct educational campaigns about tuberculosis, also known as consumption, among the immigrants. Her fluency in Yiddish was of great help to her patients.

At that time families lived in over-populated tenements with no sewers or drains and with toilets and running water often located outside. This meant that residents had to go down flights of stairs to access these facilities. Such unsanitary conditions, coupled with overcrowding and dirt, took a heavy toll on their health. Morbidity was high, and diseases such as dysentery, diphtheria, tuberculosis and poor nutrition developed as a result.

The Mount Sinai Tuberculosis Programme was supported almost entirely from funds from an association started by Mary. Late in 1907 the group changed its name to the Jewish Anti-Tuberculosis Association and early in 1908 was chartered by the state as a charitable organisation.

DEMONSTRATION WEBSITES

Tribal Pages has a Demonstration
Website:

<https://kennedyfam.tribalpages.com>

It is based on the Kennedy family.

Tutorial and Help:

<https://www.tribalpages.com/tpsupport.html>

TIPS

Familiarise yourself with the features of the Demonstration Websites before deciding whether you want to go ahead

Preferable to create separate websites for each family (eg one for your mother's family and a separate one for your father's family).

MORE TIPS

It is easier to set up a new file on your computer separate from your Tribal Pages site with folders which you can work on prior to transferring the information to Tribal Pages. For example:

Folder One – Information for your Home Page.

Folder Two – The stories about individuals you want to add under the STORIES tab.

Folder Three – Collect all the photos you want to add to each album. Sort them with an album for each individual.

Easier to do your preparation before entering it into Tribal Pages.
